-John 3:16

A TIME TO BE BORN

Adarius was born in Orlando, Florida on October 30, 1999, to Antoinette Williams and Scott Sanders.

A TIME TO LEARN

Adarius received his early education in the public schools of Orange County, Florida. As a young boy, he spent lots of time with his Grandma Lillian. They were very close and enjoyed each other’s company while watching TV. In middle school, he developed his love for the arts; as he was an active member of the Community Theatre. Going into his sophomore year of high school, Adarius relocated from Apopka to Lakeland, FL to live with his paternal grandparents. Determined to beat the odds, he worked hard to excel in the classroom, as well as, developing his skills in theatre, music, and photography. He was cast as Tarzan; the musical put on by his high school performing arts department. He participated in chorus, was a member of the dance team and a member of the Chess Club. In 2018, he received his high school diploma from George Jenkins High School.

A TIME TO LOVE AND ENJOY

Adarius was an exceptional young man who loved and devoted his time to family and community service. His courage, wit, and resilient nature allowed him to dream BIG. He aspired to be a professional actor. His favorite pastime included trips to the beach, family gatherings, photography, dancing, reading and writing.

He leaves to cherish his life, love, giving spirit and wonderful memories to his Mother: Antoinette Williams; Father: Scott Sanders; Grandparents: Alvin and Marie Sanders, Lillian Williams, George Williams; Brothers: Dontae and Deshane Williams; Uncle: Anthony (Gail) Hines; Aunt: Tamara (Toriano) West; Godparents: Tracey Bennett and Jeanine Walker; and a host of Uncles, Aunts, Cousins and Friends.
