“ Cousin Azalene--As a mother, losing "Fonsa" meant losing a piece of your soul for good. We will keep praying that he is now safe from harm and smiling once again. We pray to God to bring him back, but we know our prayers will be in vain. The agony of losing "Fonsa" must be excruciating. We hope that wherever he is, angels are by his side, keeping him safe. There are no appropriate words of comfort....Love. L.C., Patricia, and his Bonhams -- but this feeble attempt is the sentiment of your loving family. We know that Nate needed his son and God has sent him to be with his father.

“ I went to college with Al at NEO. Lots of great memories just hanging out with Skip, Doug and Al! Cart wars at Walmart, field house hijinks and lots and lots of laughs. Truly treasured memories. Al was absolutely one of the nicest people I have ever met. My condolences to the family and prayers for comfort. 🙏❤️

“ Al was my first friend in Florida. I met him at Hyatt, where he made me smile for the employee id photo. He made me smile everyday from that day forward and we were instant friends. He helped this lost, 18 year old girl gain courage and confidence to leave an abusive relationship. He taught me how to make a budget on his lunch break and helped me move on his day off. Al was a great listener, a good hugger, a strong shoulder to cry on, a kind soul, and a friend for life. I'm very thankful to have known Al. He changed my life for the better.

“ Still shocked from hearing of Al's transition! I will always remember our conversations, and of course his help in many ways. Praying God comfort his family at this time.

“ AL shared a story about when he was going to college at NEO A&M. After football season was over the tradition was for football players to go to a bar in Kansas called the Ranch for a post season party. AL said he got into a car full of guys and he was the only one who was Black. Because of Als good nature, sense of humor and overall likeable personality most people never paid any attention. And to most people at Hyatt the same was true AL was just AL and we are all better people having known him.
