“ It is with deep sadness that I am just learning of the passing of James. I met him through my sister, who is also now deceased, several years ago. Never have I met a kinder, gentler man, who helped both my sister and I through some tough times. While we came to meet James as our lawn man, he surpassed that by becoming a friend.

To his family, know that you truly had a gem as a family member. Saying goodbye is never easy. Know that James will be missed, but that we will all cherish the memories and the joy of having him as a part of our lives, and are better because of it.

“ Beloved Lynn, with deep sympathy and great regard do we write, for words never seem weighty enough in times like these. However, we both grieve and mourn with you as we likewise celebrate the life of your brother (James “Spyder” Childs). We are hopeful that we can declare that Earth may have lost a soldier, but Heaven has picked up an Angel. We love you and praying for you all!
