

John Ilienes, Jr.

May 18, 1997 - September 4, 2019

John Ilienes, Jr., affectionately known as “John, Jr.” was born on May 18, 1997 in Hattiesburg, Mississippi, to parents John Ilienes, Sr. and Henriette C. Clarke. When he was three months old, his family relocated to Orlando, Florida.

John, Jr. loves all elements of life. He was the true definition of a “busy body”. He loved the calmness fishing provided for him. John, Jr. had a talent working with his hands. When it came to any hands on job, John, Jr. was able to follow any instructions to complete the task and create a work of art. Growing up, he loved to play foot-ball. He played for several teams in Orlando displaying his talents on the field.

John, Jr. was an inspiring, determined and driven young man with a heart of gold. He was charismatic and a charmer with a beautiful smile that left an imprint.

John, Jr. was the type of friend that you wanted to have because when he said, “I got you”, he truly meant it. He took care of the people he really loved. John, Jr. truly adored his mother, who held a major place in his life as his backbone, his refuge and his confidant.

John, Jr. was preceded in death by his paternal grand-mother, Philora

Fenatus and maternal grandfather, Henry Sejour.

Left to cherish his memory are his mother, Henriette C. Clarke and father, John Ilienes, Sr., both of Orlando, Florida; brother, Dean J. Clarke of Orlando, Florida; sisters: Briana J. Ilienes, Cassandra A. Ilienes, Paris V. Clarke, Deana C. Clarke, Tatiyana K. Clarke and De'Asia S. Clarke, all of Orlando, Florida; paternal grandfather: Charlemagne Ilienes of Miami, Florida, maternal grandmother, Clemence Alce (Frances) of Orlando, Florida and a host of aunts, uncles, cousins, other relatives and friends.
