

Juanita J. Shumpert

September 21, 1935 - February 15, 2014

Sister Shumpert, 78, was born in Greenville, Florida of Madison County on September 21, 1935 to Mr. and Mrs. John B. and Daisy Walker.

Growing up, Sister Shumpert attended Greenville's Public School; elementary and high school, which were both combined at that time. She excelled in the game of basketball. Rather than pursue basketball, Sister Shumpert chose to move to Rochester, New York. While in New York she entered into the department of surgery at Genesee Hospital, where she learned, taught and supervised others to prepare surgical kits for numerous types of surgeries (prior to today's technology).

Sister Shumpert later moved back to Mt. Dora, Florida where she met and married Master Sargent Barry Shumpert, Sr. of the U.S. Marines Corp. Sister Shumpert was preceded in death by her husband, Master Sargent Berry Shumpert, son, Berry Shumpert, Jr., parents, Mr. and Mrs. John B. and Daisy Walker, sister Mrs. Lessie Hall.

The Lord saw fit to call Sister Shumpert from earthly labor to heavenly reward on Saturday, February 15, 2014 at 10:00 pm. Her departure leaves a void in the lives of her family and many precious friends.

“ *Psalm 30:5 - Daughters remember that weeping may endure for a night but JOY comes in the morning:
What a awesome woman my Aunt Neat was: Even though we were not related by Blood, we were definitely related by LOVE: I will never forget her kind heart. I never heard my Aunt Neat say anything mean about anyone no matter what the circumstances were, she would say in her (sweet kind voice well baby you know everyone is different). 2 years ago when my mother was hospitalized she would want me to call her everyday regardless of the time for her personal updates...Sleep on Auntie....I luv you today, tomorrow, and always...*
