

Rhodesha Veronica Moore

August 11, 1970 - October 22, 2024

A beautiful, brilliant and bright dancing star was born on August 11, 1970, in the lovely city of Winter Garden, Florida. Rhodesha was the baby girl of Willie Moore and Virginia Jackson. She was raised in a close-knit, caring community where everyone knew her as “Desha.” She gained her heavenly dancing wings on October 22, 2024.

Rhodesha attended Maxey Elementary and West Orange High School, class of 1989. Rhodesha was a natural-born people person, known for her warm smile and genuine care for everyone she met. With the heart for service, she thrived in the food customer service industry, where her love for connecting with others truly shone for over 30 years.

Throughout her life, Rhodesha attended church, she was a devout follower of the Lord, teaching her children the value of God and the true meaning of having faith the size of a mustard seed. Rhodesha never complained, and her faith in God was unwavering. She enjoyed gathering her family together and cherished her family and friends, especially her children and grandchildren. She loved for her daughter to host family gatherings and cook Sunday dinners Thanksgiving style.

Desha loved dancing, music, and exciting events. Her contagious enthusiasm and passion for these get-togethers produced priceless memories that friends and family will always cherish. She will always be known as the “life of the party,” and her radiant light will never go out.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Willie Moore and Virginia Jackson; her son, Ty’Quantis Moore, and her siblings, James Jackson, Bernard Jackson, Virginia Battle, Thomas Jackson, and Alton Jackson.
