“ Vince was so kindhearted. he was always available to help clear out a garage or a yard. One time a friend moved to Texas and left a yard full of a variety of building supplies and and wood products. It was just after Hurricane Irma so there was also a lot of debris. I asked Vince to clear the yard ready for the new owners to move in. He and a friend spent 2 days sorting and clearing the yard. The second day I went to check on Vince. He was sitting on a brick. The yard had been cleared. "Do you see what we found?" he said looking in the direction of the shed. There in the mud were 3 tiny baby kittens. Their eyes were still shut. I said I could not leave them as they would not survive without the debris giving them a safe shelter. I took them home, & bottle fed them. Today they are a part of my family, quite grown up. Looking at them, reminds me of Vince and his kind heart on that day, 2 years ago.

*You will be missed Vince,
Your friends
